We are seeking a highly organised, professional and rigorous individual to serve as Executive Team Support for Future Academies. Working in the Head Office of a small multi-academy trust based in Westminster, this is a pivotal role as Future Academies seeks to raise awareness of its work – academic research, world-leading teaching, innovation and community engagement – among its key audiences through a range of communications activity.

This is a varied and rewarding role, working as a key member of a small, welcoming team, and offers a rewarding balance of:

- Work to deliver the objectives set out in the Trust's communications strategy; raising the profile of Future Academies and the various strands to the MAT, securing coverage of our community engagement and education initiatives in local London media, and beyond.
- Diary management.
- Producing and formatting reports and presentations.
- Document preparation.
- Writing, proofreading and editing press releases, comment pieces, blogs, event releases, speeches, scripts and other content and repurposing content for a variety of channels and audiences including websites.

About Future Academies

Future Academies is a Multi-Academy Trust and a charity regulated by the Department for Education.

We are committed to helping young people succeed and overcome social barriers irrespective of background or starting point through our inclusive ethos which is founded on knowledge, aspiration and respect.

Built around a small family of innovative and ambitious schools in Westminster, White City and Hertfordshire, the Trust boasts a proven track record of effective school improvement while transforming the lives of children and young people. As the Trust welcomes two new secondary schools into the group and embarks on a period of growth, an exciting opportunity has arisen to work within the Trust Head Office.

You will play a pivotal role as Future Academies seeks to raise awareness of its work – academic research, world-leading teaching, innovation and community engagement – among its key audiences through a range of communications activity. You will promote our visual identity, brand, style and tone of voice across the organisation, as well as writing, editing and sometimes commissioning content to professional standards.

It is essential that the successful candidate has excellent organisational skills including the ability to multi-task and manage a number of conflicting priorities. Absolute discretion, diplomacy and sensitivity in handling confidential materials and information is also essential in this role.

Closing date: Monday 29th April 2019 at 5:00pm

To apply: Please complete the Future Academies application form and send to recruitment@futureacademies.org
